Phlebotomist

We provide client-centered, wholistic primary health care through an interprofessional, team-based model of care. Services comprise a range of options including prevention, assessment, diagnosis and treatment based on traditional and contemporary models of care, using wholistic health and community development concepts.

Phlebotomist works within an interprofessional team comprised of registered and non-registered healthcare professionals, both directly and under the facilitation of medical directives and within the relevant professional scope of practices, established by applicable professional colleges, to provide phlebotomy services while supporting the optional functioning of the team in providing wholistic healthcare services.

NOTE: traditional practices involve burning sacred medicines including tobacco, sweetgrass, sage and cedar within the work setting.

Qualifications:

- Completion of Canadian college certificates program in medical laboratory science and certification by the Canadian Society for Medical Laboratory Science, OR Completion of a Canadian Post-Secondary institution in a medical discipline with phlebotomy training and certification by the Canadian Phlebotomy Technicians Group Inc.
- One to two years' experience in a similar position;
- adept at venipuncture, phlebotomy, and finger sticks;
- advanced knowledge of infection control procedures;
- demonstrated interpersonal communication, critical thinking and problem-solving skills, highly organized and detail orientated;
- ability to work both independently, and as a team member;
- excellent communication and interpersonal skills
- deep understanding and experience of Indigenous culture, values, and perspectives and relevance in a workplace; ability to speak and understand Anishinaabemowin a definite asset;
- proof of immunization in compliance with policy requirements is mandatory;
- valid drivers' license, own vehicle and willingness and ability to travel required;
- criminal records check and current drivers' abstract required;
- commitment to ongoing training and professional development relevant to job requirements; and positive attitude and capacity to act as a healthy lifestyle role model.
